Unit 2 READ & WRITE

Read the passage.

The drongo is a tricky bird that lives in the African desert. This bird copies the sounds of other animals. It follows meerkats around during the day. When the bird sees that a meerkat has caught a tasty treat, it makes a warning call. The call sounds like another meerkat saying there is danger. So, the meerkat runs to its hole and leaves its food behind. Then the drongo helps himself to dinner. Why does the meerkat keep getting tricked? Sometimes the drongo gives a real warning. There really is danger! The meerkats never know if the warning is real or not.
