

Crocodiles and alligators both belong to the reptile family. They look alike, but there are differences.

They both live in the water, but they need to come on the land too.