

Long ago when bears were king of the forest, the bear called all the animals together for a meeting.

The bear said, “I am tired. I cannot watch the forest day and night. Winter is coming. I must find an animal to watch over our forest while I sleep.”