COMPREHENSION: INFERENCE

Listen as the story is read aloud twice. Then answer the questions.

The Wind and the Sun

1 One day, the sun and the wind were fighting. They couldn't decide who was stronger. Then they saw a woman walking on the road.

2 "Let's do a test," said the sun. "The winner is stronger. See that woman? Who can make her take off her coat? You or me? You go first."

3 The wind blew and blew. But the woman just pulled her coat tighter. At last, the wind grew tired. It said to the sun, "It's your turn."

4 The sun began to shine. The day became bright and hot. The woman opened her coat. "What a nice day!" she said. The sun shone even brighter. The day became very hot! The woman took off her coat. The sun had won!

I. What do you think might happen next?

- A The sun and the wind will keep fighting.
- B The woman will put her coat back on.
- C The sun and the wind will stop fighting.
- D It will begin to rain.
