

Once there was a little girl who lived in a cottage in the woods. Her birthday was very near. And so she began to plan for her party. Her mother said to her, "First, you must write the invitations."

So the little girl wrote three invitations and mailed them right away.