1. The family has just arrived at a pick-your-own farm. The sign says that there are strawberries. The family is in the strawberry fields. Each person has a bucket to fill with the strawberries that they pick. Each person has claimed their own row or area full of strawberries to pick. The family is near each other, so they are talking to each other. They might even challenge each other to see who can find the biggest berry or who can pick faster. The little sister is eating some of the berries as she picks them. When all the buckets are filled, the family pays for them and goes home. Once they are home, they use the fresh berries to make strawberry shortcakes. This is a cake with sliced strawberries on top covered in whipped cream. Then they all sit down at the table and enjoy eating the dessert together.
